- 4.1 Ownership to the subject of delivery shall not pass to the customer until payment has been made in full. If the validity of this retention of title is subject to certain conditions or special formal requirements in the country of destination, the customer shall ensure that they are fulfilled.
- 4.2 The customer may not pledge, sell or assign as security the subject of delivery prior to the passage of title. In the event of pledges and seizures or other orders by third parties, the customer must inform the third party of our title and notify us without undue delay.
- 4.3 In the event of actions on the part of the customer in breach of contract, including, but not limited to, default of payment, we shall be entitled to repossession following a notice of default, and the customer shall be obliged to surrender possession. Neither the enforcement of the retention of title nor the pledge of the subject of delivery by us shall be deemed to be a rescission of contract.
- 4.4 An application for the initiation of insolvency proceedings concerning the customer's assets shall entitle us to rescind the contract and to demand immediate return of the subject of delivery.
- 4.5 If customer is residing in the Federal Republic of Germany, the following shall apply in addition to the foregoing:
- 4.5.a By way of derogation from section 4.1 hereof, we reserve ownership to the subject of delivery until all of our claims against the customer within our ongoing business relationship have been satisfied.
- 4.5.b By way of derogation from section 4.2 hereof, the customer is entitled within the scope of his normal business transactions, to resell the subject of delivery for which we reserve ownership under the following conditions: He must resell the subject of delivery under retention of title if the subject of delivery is not immediately paid in full by the third-party customer. There shall be no entitlement to a resale if the customer is in default of payment. The customer hereby assigns the claims arising under the resale or under any other legal grounds to us to secure our claims. In the event that the reserved goods are processed and co-ownership is created, the assignment shall only encompass the percentage of claims corresponding to our co-ownership.
- 4.5.c The customer shall remain entitled to collect the claims assigned to us after their assignment for as long as he complies with his payment obligations to us in accordance with the terms of this contract. We may demand at any time that the customer discloses the assigned claims and the debtors thereof, provides us with all information necessary for collecting such claims, delivers to us the documents pertaining thereto and informs the debtor of the assignment.
- 4.5.d Processing of the reserved goods by the customer shall always be effected on our behalf. If the reserved goods are blended, bonded or processed with items to which we do not own a title, we shall acquire co-ownership at the ratio of the invoiced value of the reserved goods to the other processed items at the time of processing. If our goods are blended, bonded or processed with other movables to a single item and if the other item is to be viewed as the main item, it shall be deemed that the customer shall transfer proportionate co-ownership to us, provided that he is the owner of the main item. The customer shall act as custodian of the property or joint property for us. In all other respects, the same provisions shall apply for the item created by processing, bonding or blending as for reserved goods.

If this is not the case, the performance term shall be extended accordingly. The foregoing shall not apply if the delay is our responsibility.

- 5.2 Compliance with the performance term is subject to the condition that deliveries to us are correct and on time. We shall notify the customer of any foreseeable delays.
- 5.3 The performance term has been honoured if notice of the readiness for shipment has been given. If acceptance must be made, the acceptance date or, alternatively, our notice of the readiness for acceptance shall govern timeliness.
- 5.4 If non-compliance is attributable to force majeure, labour disputes, delays in procuring government licences or other events outside our scope of influence, the performance term shall be reasonably extended. This shall also apply if we are in default of rendering our performance. We shall inform the customer of foreseeable delays.
- 5.5 If the shipment or acceptance of the subject of delivery is delayed on grounds for which the customer must bear responsibility, the costs incurred by the delay shall be charged to him. We reserve the right to assert further damage compensation claims.
- 5.6 We reserve the right to dispose of the subject of delivery if the customer has allowed a reasonable period for delivery or acceptance set by us to expire, and to supply the customer in a reasonably extended period.

6. Delays in performance, impossibility

- 6.1 In the event of partial impossibility the customer may only rescind the contract if it can be proven that the partial performance is of no interest for the customer. If this is not the case, the customer must pay the prices according to the terms of contract attributable to the partial delivery. Otherwise, section 9 shall apply. If impossibility occurs while the customer is in default of acceptance or because of customer's fault, he shall remain obliged to provide consideration.
- 6.2 If the responsibility for impossibility is not to be borne by either party, we are entitled to claim a part of the remuneration corresponding to the work performed by us.
- 6.3 If we are in default and the customer incurs damages because of this, he shall be entitled to demand a flat rate default compensation. This default compensation shall be 0.5 per cent for each full week as of the date the claim has been received by us in writing, however, not exceeding a total of 5 % of the value of that part of the complete delivery which could not be used due to the delay and/or as stipulated.
- 6.4 Within the scope of the statutory provisions, the customer is entitled to rescind the contract if, taking into account the exceptions under statute, a reasonable grace period for the rendering of our performance set for us by him during our default has been allowed to expire.
- 6.5 Any further claims because of a default in delivery shall be governed exclusively by section 9.

7. Acceptance

- 7.1 In case of work performance, the customer is only entitled to refuse acceptance if the defect cancels out or significantly reduces the normal and/or contractually stipulated use of the work and/or its value. If the work contains defects not entitling the customer to refuse acceptance, acceptance shall be made under the reservation that the defects are rectified.
- 7.2 Refusals of acceptance, objections to acceptance or reservations against acceptance must be made immediately in writing, accompanied by the designation and description of the reported defect.
- 7.3 The use of the subject of delivery by the customer shall be regarded as acceptance.

8. Claims for defects

- 8.1 In case of material or legal defects, the customer is entitled to the following claims for defects:
- 8.1.a Claims for defects by the customer are based on the assumption that he has properly adhered to the examination and complaint stipulations as outlined in § 377 German Commercial Code.
- 8.1.b At our discretion we shall deliver a defect-free item or remedy the defect, provided the subject of delivery is proven to have already been defective upon the passing of risk pursuant to section 3. The customer shall notify us immediately of any defects in writing stating and describing the reported defect. We have the right to retain the title to parts replaced as part of the exchange procedure.

- 8.1.c No claims for defects shall be created by causes which are not attributable to any fault on our part, such as: Normal wear and tear, excessive usage, unprofessional intervention or maintenance by the customer or third parties, incomplete or incorrect information supplied by the customer, improper operation, assembly or start-up, wrong or negligent handling, improper maintenance, use of unsuitable operating materials/substitute materials, defective construction work, unsuitable subsoil, hazardous ambience conditions unknown to us, chemical, electro-chemical or electrical influences, changes to the subject of delivery made without our consent.
- 8.1.d The customer must provide us with the required time and opportunity for subsequent performance. If we are not provided with this opportunity, we shall not be liable for any resulting consequences.
- 8.1.e In the event of remedial work we shall bear all of the costs required for the purpose of rectifying the defect, particularly transport and travel costs and the costs of labour and materials, provided these costs are not increased because the subject of delivery was moved to a site other than the place of performance.
- 8.1.f In the event that customer culpably contributes to the cause of the defects, including, but not limited to, his failure to comply with the duty to avoid or reduce damage, we shall be entitled to a damage compensation claim after the subsequent performance which corresponds to the customer's contribution to the cause of the defect.
- 8.1.g The customer shall be entitled to the right to rescind the contract if – taking into account the exceptions under statute - a grace period set for us for subsequent performance with respect to a defect is allowed to expire. If the defect is only insignificant, the customer may only demand a reasonable reduction of the contract price. Otherwise, the right to a reduction of the contract price shall be excluded.
- 8.1.h For assembly, repair and other services, section 13.9 shall apply instead of section 8.1.g.
- 8.1.i If the use of the subject of delivery within the periods set down in sections 11 results in the infringement of intellectual property rights or copyrights, we shall generally procure the right to continued use for the customer or alter the subject of delivery in such manner that an infringement of the intellectual property or copyright no longer exists. If this is not possible under commercially reasonable terms or within a reasonable period, the parties shall be entitled to rescind the contract. We shall indemnify the customer within these periods against undisputed or final and absolute claims of the owners of the intellectual property rights.
- 8.1.j Subject to section 9, our obligations described in section 8.1.i. are final and conclusive in case of infringements of intellectual property and copyrights.
- 8.1.k The claim to subsequent performance for infringements of intellectual property rights and copyrights shall only exist if
 - the customer informs us immediately in writing, stating the designation and description of the alleged infringements of intellectual property rights or copyrights,
 - the customer reasonably supports us in the defence against asserted claims or enables us to carry out the modifications pursuant to section 8.1.i.,
 - we are reserved the right to undertake all defensive measures, including out-of-court settlements,
 - the infringement of intellectual property or copyrights is not based on instructions or specifications provided by the customer,
 - the infringement of intellectual property or copyrights was not caused by the fact that the customer autonomously modified the subject of delivery or used it in a manner not conforming to the terms of contract.
- 8.2 All further claims for defects under warranty (including, but not limited to, compensation for damages not occurring to the subject of delivery itself) are governed exclusively by sections 9 and 13.9.
- 8.3 In case used products are sold, all claims because of defects shall be excluded unless statutory liability applies.

9. Liability

- 9.1 We are only liable, even in the event of damage due to a breach of duties during contract negotiations and irrespective of the legal grounds for liability (including, but not limited to, compensation for damage caused other than to the subject of delivery itself) in the case of:

- 9.5 Any further liability on whatever legal grounds, including, but not limited to, compensation for damages not caused to the subject of delivery itself, shall be excluded.
- 9.6 We shall not be liable for the consequences of defects for which no claims for defects are provided for under section 8.1.c.

compensate us for already rendered performance and any incurred time and expense.

- 12.6 Replaced parts remain our property. We reserve the right to forego our property of the replaced parts against payment by the customer.
